

HAYNES FARM & HARDWARE

Invite you to their

ANNUAL MELBOURNE CUP FIELD DAY

Tuesday 1st November 2016

Commencing 9am sharp at 'Binnia', 24km North of Coolah on the Mullaley Road

Field Day Program

National Variety Trials (NVT) – 'Binnia'

We will take a look through this year's NVT trial and look at the up and coming wheat varieties including a number of new dual purpose wheats. One lucky field day attendee will win a ton of AGT's newly released variety 'Coolah' to celebrate its launch.

Successful On Farm Grain Storage – 'Binnia' Silos

Philip Burrill, senior development agronomist and post-harvest grain protection officer with Queensland Department of Agriculture and Fisheries will talk us through an integrated, best practice approach to grain storage. With current sluggish grain prices and large tonnages set to be held on farm post-harvest, this will be an invaluable session for anyone planning on storing grain and seed on farm.

Morning Tea at 'Binnia'

Haynes Farm and Hardwares' 2016 forage oat evaluation site – 'Belang'

Come along and inspect what has been a very interesting site indeed. This site includes multiple replicates of 10 different widely used oat varieties. We have assessed them for dry matter production over two dry matter cuts, grazing selection and measured them for feed quality, come along for your copy of the results!

Fallow Management and Economics – 'Coolah Sporting Club'

Col McMaster of the NSW DPI will present his most recent research findings on the economics of fallow weed management and look in particular at the return on investment of different approaches. 'A nitrogen, water and weed management story - Pros and cons of grazing summer fallows'.

Program will be followed by lunch, sweepstakes, and the Melbourne Cup at the Coolah Sporting Club.

For catering purposes, please RSVP by Friday 28th October on 6377 1005
